Asserts Treason Can Be Charged In Spy Thefts

Congressman Rankin Says
Secret Documents Stolen
"After Pearl Harbor"

WOMAN CALLED AS WITNESS TODAY

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Rep. Rankin (D) Miss., declared today that secret documents were stolen from government files for a Communist spy ring "after Pearl Harbor" and therefore the guilty persons can be charged with treason.

Rankin made the assertion at an open hearing of the House Un-American Activities Committee. Acting Chairman Mundt (R) S. D., inferentially confirmed Rankin's statement and agreed that possible treason is involved in the Communist spy investigation.

Woman Questioned
The development came during questioning of Mrs. Marion Bachrach of New York, who described herself as writer employed by the Communist party and a sister of John Abt, ex-government official named in the spy case.

Mrs. Bachrach was called as a "mystery witness" whose testimony, the committee said, might or might not prove "important" in the investigation.

Abt was identified last summer by Whitaker Chambers, self-confessed ex-Communist agent, as the leader of a Communist "underground organization" in the United States whose purpose was to infiltrate the government.

Mrs. Bachrach, short, plump and dark-haired, proved a stubborn witness who declined on constitutional grounds to answer most of questions on Page Two.

Removing Tracks And Bumpers In P. & L. E. Driveway

Employees of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad today commenced removing three tracks and cement bumper blocks in what is known as the P. & L. E. driveway, south of East Washington street.

The railroad company is leaving one track remain for the use of Mr. McCormick, according to railroad officials.

Pa Newc Observes

Charles Audine of 411 Taylor street has returned from Warren county where he bagged a five-point 125-pound buck.

Only one of the large Christmas trees erected on the Public Square was illuminated over the week end. The tree on the west end of the square presented a very pleasing sight to motorists and others passing the spot.

Workers of the city streets department were making a much needed improvement at the northeast corner of the Public Square on Monday. The section of the street nearest the curb was being lowered in order to facilitate the smoother flow of drain water during heavy rains. Normally much water collects at the spot, making the street crossing particularly bad.

Joseph M. Warso, 1111 Summit street, brought down a five-point 140-pound buck near Endeavor, Pa., on Saturday. He was accompanied by Philip Black of the Greenfield road. This was Mr. Warso's second trip this season, being unsuccessful on his first mission.

Murder Attempt Ends In Suicide By Young Actress

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 14.—(INS)—A bizarre attempt at murder ended today with the suicide of Patricia (Pat) Styles, 25-year-old actress-daughter of radio producer Hal Styles.

Intended victim of the shooting was Nathan (Nate) Sugarman of the auctioneering firm of J. J. Sugarman & Sons, who suffered a grave wound of his head and a bullet in his left leg.

Police said the shooting began when the actress fired a fusillade at her ex-fiance and wounded him after learning he had announced his engagement to another girl.

They said the actress turned the .32 caliber gun on herself when Sugarman scrambled past her and fled in a hail of bullets. The slug crashed into her brain.

He paid down $10,500, and the deal is to be consummated before February 1. He intends to use the building for commercial purposes, he stated.

Mr. Berger presented a certified check for $10,500, to the mayor, which is to be applied on the purchase price. If for any reason the city fails to go through with the deal the "hand money" is to be returned.

RESCUE ATTEMPT PROVES FUTILE

A fast moving P. & L. E. freight train crushed to death two railroad employees in Lowellville, O., Monday afternoon, despite the futile attempts of one of the men to save the life of his fellow-worker.

The men killed were Peter Baranski, aged 56, of 2½ East Long avenue, New Castle, and Michael Ruddy of 130 Grant street, Lowellville, O.

According to reports, Ruddy and a group of men were working on the tracks when a freight train passed on the B. & O. tracks, paralleling the P. & L. E. rails.

Engine Strikes Two
The noise of the passing B. & O. train drowned out the sound of the approaching P. & L. E. freight. Ruddy looked up and saw the on-coming locomotive and at the same time Baranski started to run along the tracks. Ruddy yelled at him and tried to push him off the tracks but the engine struck both of men, pulling them with full force underneath the wheels.

Baranski, who was a laborer on the P. & L. E. received a crushed chest and mangled right arm, in addition to other injuries. Ruddy's body was mangled almost beyond identification.

Ruddy's body was removed to the Cunningham funeral home, Lowellville, O., and Baranski's body was taken to the Noga funeral home, this city.

Carol Singing Program Started Monday Night

All that was needed in downtown New Castle Monday night to make an ideal Christmas scene was a touch of snow.

Washington street looked like a vest pocket edition of Times Square on New Year's Eve, the stores were crowded with customers and the lighted Christmas trees on the public square twinkled out their message of the season.

Carols Add To Effect
The final touch was the Christmas carols that floated out over the business district from the platform on the public square. Here the senior high school chorus presented the first of a series of Christmas programs.

Fresh and vibrant and beautifully blended the chorus sang the old carols that are new every year. The chorus was directed by Miss Helen R. Lealip. Accompanists were Miss Donna McBride and Miss June Vincent. The numbers (Continued on Page Two)

Finance Minister In Japan's Cabinet Resigns His Post

Precipitates Government Crisis By Trying To Kiss Women
Legislators

TOKYO, Dec. 14.—(INS)—Sanroku Izumiya, Japan's amorous finance minister who precipitated a government crisis by trying to kiss two women legislators, resigned today from both the cabinet and his seat in the Diet (parliament). He also went on the wagon "for at least one day."

At his home where he was nursing a beauty of a hangover, Izumiya proclaimed:

"I am not going to drink another drop of whisky or wine for at least one day."

Then he hastened to add:

"However, I assure you I am not becoming a permanent teetotaler." Izumiya's public lovemaking caused Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida to summon his cabinet into an emergency session at dawn.

At this extraordinary meeting the government heads accepted Izumiya's proffered resignation as finance minister. He was declared guilty of "conduct unbecoming a cabinet officer."

It all began last night in the lobby of the Diet's house of representatives. There Izumiya, after imbibing "one too many," tried to seize and kiss the two women representatives, Harue Yamashita, Democrat, and Toshi Matsuo, Socialist.

Reward Of $4,130 Spurs Hunt For Slayer Of Girl

Pittsburgh Police Receive
Many Tipster Calls—Follow Two Leads

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 14.—(INS)—Tipsters calls at the rate of 40 an hour poured into police headquarters in Pittsburgh today—all from persons who believe they have information about the horror slaying of 12-year-old Carole Lee Kensinger.

Reward money for the conviction and execution of the killer, who stabbed the junior high school student 36 times last Friday night, now totals $4,130.

Follow Two Leads
Homicide detectives, meanwhile, are following up two leads supplied by a Philadelphia woman and a neighborhood man.

The woman, Mrs. Nellie Northover, was in Pittsburgh today to go over rogue gallery pictures in an effort to identify "a Negro about six feet tall who wore a big green hat, a double-breasted suit and light pants."

Mrs. Northover told police she saw the man flee from the alley at the rear of the Kensinger home about 9:30 p. m. Friday. Mrs. Northover has been in Pittsburgh to visit her sister who lives in the Kensinger neighborhood.

Could Identify Man
She said she was "sure" she could identify the man.

The neighborhood man, who lives across the alley from the Kensinger home, asked police to withhold his name because he fears possible retaliation. He said he saw a man of the same description peeking in the Kensinger kitchen window four days before the murder.

The neighbor placed the time at 12:45 a. m. Tuesday and said the peeper fled when he came out of his home to investigate.

The hacked body of Carole Lee Kensinger was found in her home by her parents about 11:30 p. m. Friday when they returned from an evening at a neighborhood bowling alley.

Deny Report That Margaret Truman Will Fly Overseas

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—(INS)—Reports heard in Hollywood that Margaret Truman might fly to Europe with Bob Hope and other entertainers to give Christmas shows to GIs were promptly denied today at the White House.

According to the Hollywood reports, plans had been discussed for the president's daughter—who is embarked on a singing career—to join the troupe of Hollywood entertainers.

All those who do go to help overseas GIs have a merry Christmas will forego holiday celebrations with their own families to make the trip.

Chinese Reds Make Effort To Cross Yangtze

Communist Attempt To Outflank Nanking Is Reported Today

CIRCULATE RUMORS CHIANG HAS RESIGNED

NANKING, Dec. 14.—(INS)—The first organized Communist attempt to cross the mighty Yangtze river and outflank Nanking was reported today while other Red forces struck within 40 miles north of the capital.

In North China, meanwhile, Communist shells began falling on the western fringes of Peiping as that ancient metropolis faced a possibly imminent siege.

President Chiang Kai-Shek's government was confronted with what appeared to be a rapidly approaching climax in China's civil war.

Rumors Chiang Resigns
(Reuters reported in London that rumors Chiang has resigned are sweeping Chinese business circles in the south China British colony of Hong Kong, with Vice President Li Tsung-jen reportedly slated to assume the presidency.)

The initial Communist effort to cross from the north to the south bank of the broad lower Yangtze was reported to have been made last night near Hsinking, 100 miles east of Nanking.

More than ten junks filled with Red troops tried to ferry across under cover of darkness for the apparent purpose of establishing a bridgehead on the south bank near Kiangyin, which lies opposite Hsinking.

Repulse Attempt
Nationalist sources said government naval craft repulsed the attempt, sinking more than half the Communist junks.

Dispatches from the north China front related, meantime, that students of the National University in Peiping's western suburb of Tsing-tung (Continued on Page Two)

I thought when the autumn had dropped all the leaves and the lawn was showing some brown, that the time for rake was ended a while and a fellow could lay the tool down. But this weather has been most delightful, with a lack of much ice and the snow, and it's the grass and the weeds come to life and they all seem determined to grow. So bring out the rake and the mower again, we'll get back to the summer time tricks, December and raking the lawn don't seem right, but they are and its just forty six.

Denies Any Copying
However, at one point when Stripling asked her "did you ever copy any documents from the state department?"

She replied: "I did not."

She gave the same response when asked whether she had ever copied any documents "removed from the Bureau of Standards and the Navy Department."

This is the first time that the committee has openly hinted that Navy documents might have been stolen.

The reference to war-time theft of documents and the treason charge came when Mundt and Rankin were trying to induce the witness to depart from her stand of refusing to answer certain questions.

Rankin said: "What they're trying to shield is treason. These documents were stolen during the war, after Pearl Harbor—some of them."

Rankin pointed out that a war-time theft involved treason.

hau rushed into the walled city as Communist shells started falling on the university's campus.

Communist troops were said to have captured the airfield five miles from Peiping, and were reported closing in on the city from four directions. Government commanders in the area said the situation had "suddenly deteriorated" but added that Peiping and Tientsin "would be defended to the last."

Cross Hwai River
On the east central China front, Communist forces have crossed Nanking's northern Hwai river defense line east of the Pengpu-Pukow railroad which has been broken temporarily by the Reds at points within 40 miles of the capital.

To the northwest of Pengpu, the Communists appeared to be grinding down two large government forces trapped within Red circles in a violent struggle involving at least 650,000 troops on both sides.

Permanent Communist severance of the rail lifeline from Pukow to Pengpu would virtually complete the encirclement of all 350,000 Nationalist troops north of Nanking's Yangtze barrier. Nanking is on the Yangtze's south bank, opposite Pukow.

Last August, Berle, told congressional spy probes that as late as 1944 he was "worried" about Alger Hiss and what he considered to be the then state department aide's "pro-Soviet" point of view.

Hiss, like ex-Communist agent Chambers, still is under jury subpoena. Both have been on hand throughout the two weeks of the current inquiry. Hiss has flatly denied charges by Chambers that he was linked to a Communist "apparatus" in Washington and made government secrets available to Red agents.

Berle was called by the jury to testify as it is called to complete its renewed investigation of pre-war Communist espionage before its 18-month term expires in 48 hours.

There are indications that the grand jury is headed for a new clash with its congressional rival, the House un-American activities committee.

One of her shoes, which had been missing for several hours after she was discovered unconscious, was found between the curio shop and the jungle patch where the crime was committed.

The other shoe had been found in Miss Farnsworth's jeep in front of the jade shop. She had apparently left the shop and climbed in to her jeep when the attackers seized her and dragged her into their vehicle.

Dr. Frank Hamilton, pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. Harold Claycamp of Santa Claus Methodist church, officiated at the double ring ceremony in the presence of many relatives and friends.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schaaf of Dale, Indiana, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin M. Wolford of 213 East Sheridan avenue, New Castle.

Attending the bride were Miss Dorothy Lukemeyer, a Theta Sigma sorority sister as maid of honor and the Misses Mary Martino, a college friend and Ruth Kemp, a niece, of Holland, Indiana, as bridesmaids. Flower girls were Marilyn Schaaf of Evansville and Susan Kay Roell of Dale, Indiana, nieces of the bride.

A reception in the parlors of the church followed the ceremony.

The couple left on a honeymoon trip to Chicago. Upon their return they will reside at 929 S. 6th street, Evansville.

READING CIRCLE ANNUAL YULE TEA

Reading Circle met Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. William E. Flannery, 1611 Highland avenue, for a delightful Christmas tea. Evergreens and arrangements appropriate to the season formed beautiful decorations about the living and dining rooms.

Mrs. Burr M. Rogers, chairman of the afternoon, was presented by Mrs. David Tomkins, program chairman, and she in turn presented Mrs. Clinton Kennaday, who read the Christmas story from Luke. As she read, Mrs. Harry Marshall at the piano played softly.

This was followed by a solo, "There's a Song in the Air" sung by Mrs. Rogers accompanied at the piano by Miss Virginia Rogers. The latter then played as solos two Chopin works, "Fantasia Impromptu" and the Valse in G flat major.

On the bassoon, Barbara Ann Clark played "The Jolly Dutchman." A reading "How Come Christmas?" given by Mrs. Kennaday followed.

Bringing the program to a close there was group singing of carols with Mrs. Harry Marshall as accompanist.

At 2:30 o'clock Mrs. Ira M. Ramsey called the meeting to order. An invitation from the Junior Reading Circle to attend its January 4 meeting in the home of Mrs. Raymond Webb, 1614 Carlisle street, was extended and accepted.

In the dining room later, with Mrs. Ramsey pouring tea was served by the social committee, Mrs. Edward McNamara, Mrs. Henry Stone, and Mrs. Dean Staley.

They were received with warm applause.

For the second portion of the program, the robed junior choir of Trinity Episcopal church, under the direction of Miss Isabel Johnson, sang a group of four Christmas carols, a group of anthems, and to close, "The First Noel."

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

The United Nations General Assembly has wound up its third session in Paris.

Quiet has returned to the great modernistic Palais de Chaillot on the place du Trocadere overlooking the Eiffel Tower and the Seine.

And in the interim between now and April 1 when the world organization reconvenes in the suburbs of New York, the public will have an opportunity to assay and judge the performances of half a dozen persons who played the most prominent roles in the long and in many respects futile session.

As in the days of the old League of Nations when a handful of persons such as Aristide Briand of France and Sir Austen Chamberlain of England held the limelight constantly, the Paris meeting had its select group of "star performers" who, in accordance with their national policies, either spark-plugged or dead-ended the proceedings.

In point of actual achievement, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt has been given top billing by most observers. For the assembly adopted unanimously the declaration of human rights for which she worked untiringly before the social and humanitarian committee.

This declaration, designed to achieve freedom and liberty for all, won out over objections from Soviet Russia, which attempted to justify concentration camps on the grounds of national sovereignty.

But while Mrs. Roosevelt's favorite project was written into international law, there was another delegate with a vastly different problem on his hands who attracted ceaseless attention.

Sharp Political Bargainer

He is Dr. Juan Atilio Bramuglia of Argentina, the shrewd ex-labor lawyer and sharp political bargainer, who set himself to the task of bringing east and west together on the crisis in Berlin.

His efforts were not crowned with success nor have they been a total failure.

Bramuglia's determination and persistence in the face of obstacles that seemed insurmountable served as a challenge to the whole United Nations to vindicate its functions as

Looking At Life

It seems silly for me still to be talking about those fellows who were so completely wrong on the election polls.

But it certainly is no sillier than the alibis they continue to fabricate, and the longer they talk the more elaborate the alibis become.

Some of the pseudo-prognosticators are already as pompous again as they were before the election, and are lecturing on radio and television and before clubs and organizations on what they are going to do in 1952.

I'll tell you what they are going to do in 1952—or at least what most of us hope they are going to do in 1952—keep their mouths shut and let us voters make up our own minds.

These poll-parrots remind me a lot of a cleaning woman we once had.

She broke dishes. She nicked the furniture. She chipped the paint off the doors.

But did she ever make a mistake or did she ever do anything wrong? I should say not.

They don't make dishes like they used any more, she used to say. Dishes didn't break as easily when she was young.

And the woodwork? In her home they didn't use soft wood like that. They used wood that wouldn't nick.

When my wife hinted very politely that I preferred my doors with the paint on rather than off, she immediately blamed both the painter and the paint manufacturer.

They don't make dishes like they used any more, she used to say. Dishes didn't break as easily when she was young.

The woods are full of people like that cleaning woman. You have them and everybody else has them around it's a disease, a disease of failure and inefficiency. For want of a better word, let us call it alibitis. Everybody is wrong but the person afflicted with alibitis. The alibitis patient never makes mistakes.

He or she is perfect.

An unmistakable symptom of alibitis is that the patient thoroughly resents criticism, no matter how justified, and that is one of the reasons why the disease is so difficult to cure.

Take that cleaning woman of ours, for instance—and I literally mean that you are welcome to take her any time you want her.

She used to come every Tuesday. That Tuesday was a day of torture for me, and I think for my wife as well.

Everything had to be done to suit her, and we dared not say a word about whatever she did that displeased us.

For instance, the whole house smelled of cigarette smoke on Tuesdays, because she smoked incessantly.

At noon my wife had to prepare for lunch while she sat there like a queen in critical anticipation of the meal.

Did I blow up? Did I hawl her out the way she ought to be hawled out?

I did not. I'd get into my car, take a ride and blow off steam.

How in the world did I get from polls to palls?

By looking at life, I guess.

From Me To You

By MESEZALL

There has been some talk lately about the type of movies that are produced and shown throughout the United States. Some seem to think the "plots" are not right. . . . Some pictures we agree seem rather far-fetched. . . . Some say that that picture we saw last night was nothing but trash. . . . perhaps they are right. . . . But one individual stopped and said. . . . perhaps we are the ones who are wrong.

Just what do you mean we asked. . . . Well look at it this way he said. "The complaint against the movies comes not from the regular patrons. . . . the kids. . . . but from middle-aged men and women who think the films should grow up as they grow old."

"To an older it is incredible that anyone should want to see a melodramatic B picture in this day and age, but the older forgets that children are being born every day and that the bewitched plots and situations are as new and wonderful to them as a cow or a monkey seen for the first time."

Perhaps there is something in that statement. . . . do we expect pictures to improve as our tastes change. . . . do you like to witness an emotional drama or do you prefer a more intellectual treatise on the graver problems of society?

This explains also much of the middle-aged criticism of sport, beverages, women, music, education, religion and sports. . . . One of our friends said last summer that he quite baseball because he never saw a sacrifice hit laid down any more. . . . and another fellow citizen at the Rotary Club on Monday when queried said "children ain't as learned as they was in my day."

And then there is always some one who wants to change the subject. . . . and food is always one subject you can count on being discussed. . . . in both types of meetings. . . . female or male. . . . One chap who has been around said: "It seems to be my fate to be attracted to women who dislike kitchen work."

Barrel Of Trouble

Washington Calling

(By Marquis Childs)

See Over Eager Publicity

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Both at home and abroad, the running battle over who spied on what and what spies shall be punished, and how, is doing infinite harm. Abroad it makes this supposedly rich and powerful country look ridiculous beyond words.

Here at home it makes a matter that should be considered with the utmost seriousness look like an early Mack Sennett comedy. We have had everything but an exchange of eustachian pie, and that will probably come sooner or later. This would, in fact, be the moment to subpoena Charlie Chaplin.

Over-Eager Publicity

It began with the over-eager publicity of the house un-American activities committee. That establishes a circus atmosphere almost as much as though an old-time speller had stood outside the door of the committee room haranguing the crowd to come in to see the wonders on display.

One stunt was to show a committee guard sleeping in front of a safe containing the stolen documents. The public gathered the idea that these were so vital to the security of the nation that a 24-hour guard was absolutely essential.

This is bunk. The documents are about as vital to American security today as a 1938 calendar. I have been given this assurance by the very best authority.

In perhaps two or three places they might slightly interfere with the present conduct of foreign relations.

One Man's Opinion

By Walter Kieran

The transition from wartime conditions to peace finally has been accomplished. . . . A Long Island man has fired his cook for using his car without permission.

And come to think of it we haven't seen a maid minding along in her mistress' mink this season.

Even Reuther's warm words for 1944 prices have a nostalgic air about them. . . . A public yearning for the good old days when conditions were abnormal.

But our future economy is practically solved in the new CIO plan for cutting prices. . . . by strange coincidences they have moved up on each new CIO plan for raising wages.

Some even hint at a possible connection between the two but that has been adequately disproved. . . . by the same economists.

They Say

PARIS—Andreï Vishinsky, Soviet deputy foreign minister. . . . "The (Paris) session of the United Nations" was dominated by those who are inciting a new world war against the Soviet Union and the new democracies."

PARIS—Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the U. N. . . . "The session has made only a bare beginning (in comparison with the unsolved conflicts of the great powers) that continue to curse the world and the United Nations."

NEW YORK—Alger Hiss, former State department official. . . . "I did not at any time deliver any official documents or information to Mr. Chambers or to any other authorized person."

JOBS UPON A TIME

BLOND MARION Hutton, (sister of films' Betty Hutton), vocalist and comedienne on the Jack Carson air show, wanted to be a nurse when she was in her teens, and took a pre-medical course at Detroit Technical school. When time was forced to leave school at 17 she went to work, she found singing more enjoyable and better paying. Her first job was in a popular Detroit night club in 1937. Her first commercial radio commitment came in 1940 with the late Glenn Miller's orchestra. Then she did a theater tour with Tex Beneke and his troupe until Tex went into the army. Marion has been working solo ever since.

BIBLE THOUGHT

But none said, Where is God my maker, who giveth songs in night. Job 35:10.

Where Are Sirloins Going?

By PAUL GALLICO

What I am perishing to know is, whatever is happening to all these undevoured sirloin steaks, rib roasts, prime briskets, filets mignon and tenderloin and Porterhouse cuts that must be piling up all over the country on account of there are not many of us who can afford to buy them?

It is, I gather, much too late to fasten them back on the steer again and turn them out to graze. There is just so much freezing space available. What gives? Are they chucking it out or grinding it into feed food rather than sell it to us at a reasonable rate of exchange?

Sirloin Man Myself

I am a sirloin man myself—quick broil, if you please, burned on the outside, pink inside and flavored here and there with that Worcestershire and steak sauce stuff, just stick a pat of butter on top and cut it in. However, it is so long since I have gazed upon this beautiful spectacle I am not sure I would recognize an order if I saw one in front of me.

Don't know how it is in your town, but I can't stand that $9.00 rap for a slab of cow. Maybe the price comes down if you live closer to a slab of cow. Maybe by the time they have got the meat dressed, bought it a Pullman ticket to New York and paid off the various hands who chaperoned it into the bistro, the price, a la the card, is six bucks.

Too Rich For My Blood

Sure, there are joints around town which will sell you a slice off a poor relation of a prime eating bouy for mobby $4.00, but I don't mind telling you that that is too rich for my blood likewise. By the time I have shelled out carfare, paid the income tax on my four bucks, bribed the headwaiter to make with the glass eyes in my direction and contributed the other open and hidden taxes, my slatgin of heifer has stood me close to nineteen fish and some loose change. This is an appetite killer.

So in the last six months I have not had about thirty-five steaks and I would like to know what became of them. It doesn't seem like much but if you say that there could be a thousand guys like me and maybe a lot more, all of a sudden that is 3,500 prime New York cut steaks with no place to go.

I'm Not The Only One

And I am not the only one. During the course of existence around here one finds oneself at least once a week and sometimes more frequently attending luncheons or dinners of this or that organization, in guild or society pitched in the banquet hall of one of the big hotels. The days of yore you could win bets that the main event at the feed would be a filet mignon with one lone, dispirited mushroom perched on its deck.

But no more. It's turkey, turkey, turkey. Maybe if you can tell me where all the beef is going to, you can at least tip me where all those turkeys are coming from.

Same With Dining Out

Same with dining out. Used to be when you checked in at a pal's house for a dinner party the faithful servitor would lug in a six-rib roast, cooked rare to medium and hand it around to the assembled free-loaders not once, but twice. You don't have to ask what you get now.

Up comes the old gobber.

Once this was a nation whose strength was founded on the hamburger. For two bits you could get a bagful mounted on buns with piccalilli on the side. A national comic strip character was based on the love for the hamburger. You don't see Wimpy trying into a stack of them on the funny pages any more. The beefburger isn't getting the press it used to, and take a look at the size of the ONE you can get an option on these days for the quarter past the dotted dollar.

So what's with the Yippy-ki-yo-ki-ya boys? I don't hear of any cowpokes being laid off. But nobody can afford to eat anything that locomotes on four legs any more with the possible exception of pig. So where does it all go? Or am I in the wrong line of work, maybe? (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

State Police Say:

A handout is a good turn. Not only from a standpoint of charity, but from the standpoint of safety. Drivers intending to turn right or left from a line of traffic should signal their intention of so doing by the use of hand signals, or approved mechanical signal, so that other drivers, affected by the movement of your car, may anticipate what you are going to do. Signals should be given in plenty of time to allow the driver behind you to regulate his driving accordingly.

The World

and the Mud Puddles

NOT A NEW DEALER EXACTLY

William C. Bullitt, former Ambassador to Russia, takes his pen in hand and writes the so-called "Bullitt Memoirs". Compared with those of Elliott Roosevelt, Frances Perkins, Henry Morgenthau, James F. Byrnes, Harold L. Ickes, Jim F. Hopkins, Harry Hopkins and Jack Garner, they show more candor and less hero worship. In fact, Mr. Bullitt seems to pay no attention to worshipping at the shrine of F.D.R.

An interesting feature of the Bullitt articles is the disclosure of the late President as convinced of his own prowess as a military strategist and master diplomatic psychologist. His assessment of Stalin, to an extent which has left Europe in three years of turmoil and brought our own relations with the Soviets almost to the boiling point, is explained by Roosevelt's belief in the infallibility of his own "hunches". Bullitt relates that when, in 1944, he protested to the President against unconditional lend-lease for Russia, warning that Stalin even then cherished plans for world domination following the war, Roosevelt made this reply:

"Bill, I don't dispute your facts or your reasoning. I have a hunch that Stalin is not that kind of a man. Harry Hopkins says he's not and that he doesn't want anything but security for his country, and I think that if I give him everything I possibly can and ask nothing from him in return, noblesse oblige, he won't try to annex anything and will work with me for world democracy and peace."

How naive this idea was, in an executive posing as a diplomatic expert to the extent that he consulted history in making his decisions, appears from subsequent events. The application of noblesse oblige to a Tartar who already had murdered millions of his own people, who had crushed little Finland and helped Hitler in the ravishment of Poland, was as fantastic as trying to woo a rattlesnake by petting him on the tail.

Not only does this episode illustrate the inability of Roosevelt to face disagreeable facts, but it

MANY ACHIEVEMENTS

Through his school days, they tell you, he succeeded as a son; Pleased his father and his mother when he got his lessons done. Though his head was full of mischief and a lot of pranks he played.

His record as a brother is as fine as can be made.

He succeeded as a playmate; kept the trust of all he knew;

He succeeded as a cousin and an uncle when he grew.

He succeeded as a husband and a father down the years.

And in all the various duties of man's numerous careers.

He didn't earn a fortune and he lived unknown to fame.

But his children's children loved him when a grandpa he became.

And though simple these successes, when his record here they scan.

He'll be welcomed by the angels for succeeding as a man.

Hints On Etiquette

If you wish to serve rolls with dinner, you may, should you so desire, omit butter plates, handing around, instead, small already buttered rolls to be laid on the edge of the dinner plate.

Boyles Again Heads Engineers

Shenango Pottery Man Re-
Elected President At Christmas Meeting

COAL MAN TELLS OF COAL TRENDS

At the Christmas meeting of the Mahoning-Shenango Valley Engineers' society held in The Castle Monday evening preceded by dinner, John P. Boyles, of the Shenango Pottery company, was re-elected president for the coming year.

The society was addressed by George A. Lamb, manager of Business Surveys, Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal company, was the speaker of the evening, and gave an interesting talk on "Trends in Coal."

The other officers named to serve the society for the year 1949 were: vice president, Robert R. Robinson; secretary, Gordon Jenkins; treasurer, Charles Goodman.

Mr. Lamb in his talk stated that the electric industry has become the number one buyer of bituminous coal. He stated that the bituminous industry would produce approximately 580 millions of tons of coal in 1948, 51 millions of tons less than the record output in 1947.

"Equipped deep mines, the major source for coal, actually had a decline in production, during and after World War Two," Mr. Lamb said. "The shrinkage in temporary mining operations, that is, those that supplied much of the wartime increase in output, has been in evidence for several months," he said.

In conclusion, he stated that the market for coal for 1949 will be in the neighborhood of 540 million tons, and that the nation's established deep mine capacity will be required to meet this demand.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

CHILDREN ARE TO BE ENJOYED

Sometimes we parents take our job of raising children so seriously that we get no fun from living with the youngsters. We may have been made to fear that we have to watch our every move lest we warp the child's growing personality. Perhaps our concern with "training" the child in good habits takes all the joy out of being with him.

It's important to enjoy children. One of the deepest satisfactions can come from watching the ways in which they enjoy life. Feeding peanuts to squirrels, dropping bread crumbs for birds, or just running and shouting for the pure joy of it are the kind of child activities that can be fun for parents to watch.

It is also satisfying to see our youngsters beginning to grow up, to understand more of the world about them than they have before. It's a good idea, then, to replace some of the concern about our children's development with sheer enjoyment of them. To relax and to appreciate their eager curiosity, their developing sense of humor, their love for active play can bring us renewed youth and make us better parents.

Rose Avenue P.T.A. Gives School $100

John Cornelius, principal of the Rose avenue and Oak street schools, reported today that the Rose avenue Parent-Teachers Association had made a contribution of $100 to the school for the purchase of library books.

The presentation was made through the president of the association, Mrs. Harry L. Davis. The funds will be used in purchasing supplementary books for grades one, two and three. The books will deal with work done in those grades and will not consist of reading books. The plan is to start individual libraries in the class rooms on material relative to the subjects being taught.

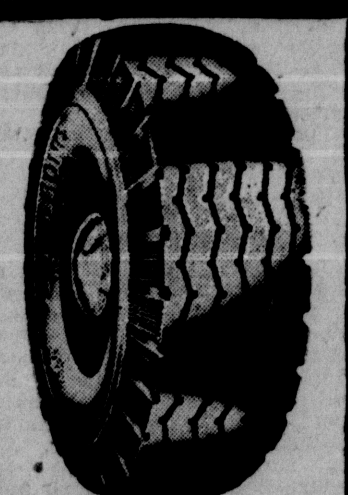

Each year the school system grants 50 cents per pupil for new books which does not quite take care of the extra needs of the classrooms for outside reading material. The new books will be an asset to the school program.

Butler Pastor Speaks In City

Rev. N. Quentin Grey Of Butler Tells Of Butler Church Council At Dinner Meeting

In a frank, informal discussion Monday evening in the First Christian church, Rev. N. Quentin Grey, pastor of the Church of Christ in Butler, Pa. and president of the Butler Council of Churches, told members of the New Castle Council the advantages and disadvantages of the Butler set-up.

The dinner meeting in the downtown church was in charge of Fred Allen, president of the New Castle Council of Churches with a good representation of the church council members and their wives or husbands present. A splendid chicken dinner was served by the ladies of the host church. Invocation was offered by Rev. Owen Shields.

Following the dinner, Rev. Oliver Hurst led the group in singing with Miss Emma Patton presiding at the piano. Dispensing with long preliminaries the speaker of the hour was introduced by Mr. Allen.

Rev. Grey enumerated a number of the successful undertakings of the Butler Council among which was a campaign put on to defeat the Sunday movie issue at a recent election. The group was successful in keeping the movies closed on Sunday in Butler.

Twelve Churches Represented

Of the 12 Butler churches represented in that council, each church has five members represented on the council. The Butler group has supplanted the ministerial association there and does the work of that body. The speaker pointed out the five main commissions or committees in the Butler organization, these being namely: Civic Commission, Spiritual Life Commission and the Youth Commission. Each group is responsible for some particular phase of the Council. Weaknesses of the various commissions were pointed out likewise.

The religious week day education program was discussed at length by the Butler pastor and it was revealed that work is meeting with success there.

Upset Price Sale To Be Held Jan. 18

Sale Will Be Followed By Diverting Properties Of Mortgages And Sold
To Highest Bidder

OTHER EVENTS IN COURT HOUSE

In an effort to put a number of properties back upon the tax lists, an "upset price sale" will be held of 11 properties by the county commissioners January 18.

The sale will probably find no purchasers, inasmuch as such a sale puts a price tag on the properties of all delinquent taxes, interest, penalties and all liens go with it.

If none of the properties are sold, and likely they will not, the commissioners will then move to divest the properties of all liens and sell them to the highest bidder.

One property in the list will probably prove attractive. It is the 100 acres in Mahoning township known as the G. S. Sicker farm. For a number of years it has been held by the county and could have been sold several times save for two reasons.

On it there is an old mortgage of $20,000 on the property. Where the mortgage is, who holds it, and why it has never been foreclosed, nobody knows. It was once held by a bank in Youngstown, but attorneys have failed to locate the mortgagors or their descendants. Another reason is the commissioners would not sell until the new highway, 422, was completed.

This highway runs right through the farm and an owner could have claimed a pretty penny for damages. As it is, the commissioners saved the county a damage suit and in addition have added value to the property.

Once the mortgage is divested, the property can be sold to the highest bidder and a number of bidders are waiting the chance to bid. It is well located on 422 and seems to be a valuable piece of land.

Class '35 Has Reunion-Party

First Gathering In Thirteen Years Proves Great Success At Country Club

Number "13" proved the exception to its unlucky tradition for the June class members of '35 of Ne-Ca-Hi—for their first reunion in 13 years resulted as one of the finest social gatherings ever held.

The party scheduled Saturday evening, took place at the New Castle Country club, and graduates could easily be seen tagged with their blue name cards. Escorts were present, but they wore white tags. The two combined the class colors of blue and white, and the large number of graduates in the class totaled to 365 students.

Diversions of the evening were dancing, reminiscing of the "good ol' school days," and chatting away and comparing the school annuals. Streamers, balloons in the proper colors added to the festivity.

Letters of regret were received from the following members: Arthur Toth, stationed with the U.S. Army in Hawaii; Mrs. Nancy Duff Grey, Aurora, N. Y.; Susanna Flynn Brinko, of Niles, O.; Rita Reig Harway, of New Brighton, Pa.; Norman Wadlinger, Harrisburg, Pa.; Patricia Woods Baugher, of Philadelphia, Pa.; and Donna Jean Bell Keppers, of University Heights, O.

Miss Virginia Weinsenk, class advisor attended as the special guest of the evening, and she was presented with a beautiful corsage of gardenias.

Prizes Awarded
Lucky members who captured the door prize was Mrs. Keith McKim; and the men's door prize was won by Dale Grimm.

Other prizes were won by Edith Deep, Joseph Cubellis, Rocco Tommelio, Mrs. James Dart, Mrs. William Woodworth, Robert Brown, Stanley Walzak, Charles Nickum and Dale Grimm.

The evening reluctantly came to a close with the singing of Auld Lang Syne and the school Alma Mater.

The party was a tremendous success, and this is due to the untiring efforts of the general chairman, James Dart, class president; and his co-chairman, Louise Corio, Mike Isabella and the assistance of the following committee:

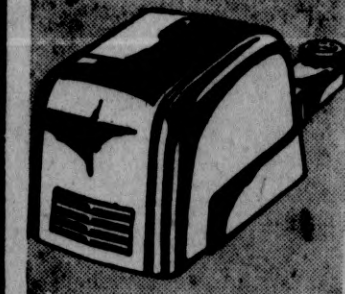

Contacting—Jean Dixon, Vivian Thomas, Pauline Hoffman, Elizabeth Myers, Myrtle Blasdel, Marie Wilson, Marjorie Walker, Patricia Young, Joe Cubellis and Betty Chamberlain; tickets—Mr. and Mrs. Harold Young; entertainment—Betty Bridenbaugh, Isabel Wyman, Helen Massie, Mary Agnes McCormick, and Jack Hammond.

Reception—Jim Bradford, Lillina Woodworth, Tony Deli, Fred Covelli, Edna Shumate and Jean McGuire; publicity—Louise Corio.

The reunion was met with such enthusiasm that it was unanimously agreed to have another affair in 1949 with Paul Griffith as general chairman.

Rotarians Learn Easiest Way To Remember Names

Method Of Making Names Stick Is Explained By Memory Expert

New Castle Rotary Club members enjoyed an entertaining program at their noon luncheon meeting Monday, which was in the form of a motion picture, entitled, "How to remember names and faces," acted out by one of the nation's most prominent memory experts.

The picture was shown through the courtesy of Robert Moore, of the Borden Ice Cream Company, and five easy steps were outlined, so that a person could associate the name with the person.

In conclusion, a test was given the members using ten characters in the picture, and astonishingly, about ninety per cent of those present, passed a hundred per cent.

Y.W.C.A. Yule Program Tonight

In addition, Christmas carols will be sung, and the presenting of the dolls will be held. Approximately 100 dolls are expected, some of which will be kept in this city, and the remainder will be sent to Europe where most little girls do not have dolls.

wild murderous rush of a major war.

Prominent too has been scholarly Dr. Philip C. Jessup who so clearly enunciated the United States position on Berlin.

Quietly and never losing his temper, Jessup was able to counter point by point the savage accusations of Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky that America and Britain are out to wreck world peace by their attitude in Berlin.

It was Jessup also who had the satisfaction of seeing Vishinsky defeated in his efforts to liquidate the U. N. Balkan Commission after the Russian had established a new low in diplomatic language by terming its report "junk, garbage and a mass of prefabricated lies."

British Foreign Secretary Bevin stepped back and his place was taken by Hector McNeill, young and dynamic and a fanatical laborite. It was McNeill who had the difficult task of presenting Britain's awkward position on Palestine.

Observers also will remember Faris El-Khoury of Syria, fighting a seemingly losing battle for Arab Palestine, who rarely let his even temper be shaken despite the violence of the dispute and who gave the delegates an almost daily lesson in clear thinking and diplomatic finesse. His views were firm but he never was less than a complete gentleman.

symptomatically the self-conceit which caused him to think that he could exercise some sort of magic in the form of personal charm.

Incidentally, in all the flood of post-Roosevelt literature, blurring or, at best, there has never appeared any explanation of the order which stopped our troops on the Elbe on their march across Germany in order to let the Soviets "take" the capital city, or the order which stopped Patton's fast-moving army a few hours from Prague in order to let the Soviets clinch their hold on Czechoslovakia.

Moose Women Take In New Candidates

Moosehaven Day Program At Moose Hall Followed By Tureen Dinner

Fourteen candidates were initiated into the Moose auxiliary at a Moosehaven Chapter Day program in the Moose hall Sunday afternoon under the direction of Mrs. Agnes Fisher, senior regent.

A number of guests were present to witness the impressive ritualistic work put on to mark the initiation under the supervision of Mrs. Margaret Grizzle by the ritualistic team. Special guests, Mrs. Ella Woods and Mrs. Rosetta Crosby, of the Youngstown lodge, were present and were introduced.

At 6 o'clock in the evening a tureen dinner was served to approximately 100 members, their families and guests. Committee in charge was Mrs. Pauline Springer, Mrs. Blanche White, Mrs. Nellie Griffith, Mrs. Ann Conti and Mrs. Agnes Vignovich.

The day marked special tribute to Moosehaven, the Moose home for the aged in Florida where nearly 600 are in residence.

The annual Christmas dinner will be Wednesday evening in the Moose hall. On the evening of December 22 the Academy of Friendship will meet in the home of Mrs. Orpha McConnell, County-line street.

On the day before Christmas baskets will be distributed. Next regular meeting will be January 4.

Boys And Girls Under 18 Working Contrary To Law

Contrary to law, a number of boys and girls in New Castle, under 18, are working without the protection of an employment certificate, School Superintendent Frank L. Burton said today.

Dr. Burton said the state law requires employers to have on file, employment certificates for minors and failure to have such a certificate on file is liable to a fine.

Should a minor be injured and his employer has no certificate on file, the employer might find himself subject to a damage suit. Employment certificates may be secured in the office of the Superintendent of Schools at 116 East street. Birth certificates should be brought along when an employment certificate is being secured.

WASHINGTON CALLING

most part state department documents, it is strange that Acting Secretary of State Robert Lovett has not assumed some authority.

Lovett has every right to ask to be heard. Yet from the department we get nothing at all. The acting secretary could quickly end the hocus-pocus over national security.

The law enforcement arm of the government is the department of justice. To present the espionage case before the grand jury in New York, the justice department must have access to the microfilms that Whitaker Chambers turned over to the committee. Yet the committee repeatedly refused the request of the justice department and the FBI to examine the films allowing them to see only prints from them.

In several instances the congress now expiring tried to usurp the law enforcement and punishment function of the executive branch of the government. The un-American committee offered the most glaring examples. With this kind of inter-branch warfare going on, there can be no order. The first congress will meet in three weeks and there should be a little more coordination after that.

Local Teacher At State Conference

Grace L. McCabe, a teacher of the Lincoln-Griffith school was one of the group of Pennsylvania teachers who attended the first annual workshop of the Commission on Professional Standards of the PSEEA held in Harrisburg December 10-11.

Among the 135 or more present were superintendents, supervisors and class room teachers, college professors, school directors, PTA members and Department of Public Instruction officials.

In their effort to raise the quality of teaching service in Pennsylvania, the delegates concentrated on such current issues as the supply and demand of teachers, the improvement of teachers while serving, the selection of suitable candidates for the profession, and the enrichment of the program of instruction in colleges which prepare teachers.

About three percent of Americans 18 to 21 years old were in college-grade schools in 1930, compared with 15 percent in 1940.

Agricultural Vets Have Dinner Party

First Annual Event Takes Place
At Lakewood With Fine
Program

Lawrence county veterans taking agricultural training, with their wives and families, had their first annual dinner party at Lakewood, when an enjoyable program was presented. There were 148 in attendance.

The instructors, along with James C. Fink, vocational agriculture supervisor for Lawrence, Butler and Beaver counties, were special guests. The local teachers are: Earl E. Melihenny, K. K. McCreary, Sam Haines and George Hellyer.

After dinner, there was a period of pep singing, and four interesting motion picture films were shown, dancing concluding the evening's program. There are 54 veterans taking vocational agriculture training here at the present time, 48 of whom were present.

Health Talks

By DR. W. A. WOMER
City Health Superintendent

"MIND AND BODY"

The body and mind make a remarkable combination. When the mind is gone, the body is not worth much.

Nations have made some progress in learning how to care for the body. We know a little about some diseases. About the time that one disease is pretty well controlled a new one pops up. It was there all the time but we did not see it.

Sanitation and good food and improved living conditions have lengthened the span of life considerably during the present century. People live longer than they used to. There are more old people than formerly. Perhaps the general health has improved. That is good and it should be better.

It does not seem as though we were doing so well with the mind. People seem to hate each other about as much as ever. We have wars and slave labor and starvation and murder and divorce and other troubles.

We have managed to keep soul and body together a little longer. If the extra years are not profitable to the individual or the nation perhaps we should try some different methods.

Musicians' Local Elects Officers

Monthly meeting of the American Federation of Musicians, Local 27 was held December 12 in the New Castle Trades and Labor Assembly Hall. The following officers were elected: President, Anthony Prescaro; vice president, Michael Prescaro; secretary, Elmo W. Moncrief; treasurer, Roger Pecano; guide, Albert Colella; sergeant-at-arms, Guido Mieleletti; executive officer, Louis Gaspare; business agent, Angelo Filigenzi.

At the next regular meeting to be held, January 9, in the Trades and Labor Assembly Hall, the newly elected officers will be installed.

SEAMAN RAGENELLI MAKES LONG CRUISE

Anthony D. Ragenelli, seaman apprentice, USN, son of Antonio Ragenelli of 817 W. State street, is serving aboard the light cruiser USS Huntington which has completed a six weeks' cruise in Atlantic and Mediterranean waters. The Huntington visited many ports in Italy, Africa and South America while completing the 28,907 mile sojourn.

NEW YORK (INS)—The death rate from pernicious anemia has been reduced by about four-fifths since the liver treatment was introduced in 1926. That is the finding of statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company.

Penna. Engineering Plant Employees To Have Yule Party

On Thursday evening, December 16, employees of the Pennsylvania Engineering Corporation, and their guests, will participate in their second annual Christmas party, at the Cathedral.

Following a turkey dinner, the program for the evening will consist of professional entertainment. Cards and dancing to a well-known orchestra will conclude the evening's program.

Tax Exemption Plea Returned

Council Seeks More Information On Site For Which Exemption Is Asked

OTHER NEWS OF COUNCIL ACTION

Council met Monday in the city building and referred back to Attorney R. L. Wallace, a communication in which he asked exemption for land and buildings owned by the Free Methodist church in the Croton district. The plot formerly was known as the Country club plot.

Church and camp meetings are held there.

It also developed that some of the land formerly was used for baseball, but when it developed that no tax exoneration could be had unless all of the land was used for religious purposes, baseball was eliminated.

Solicitor R. M. White told council that it had the authority to exempt land used for recreation, hence Attorney Wallace was asked to show what land was used for religious purposes and how much for recreation.

If the ground and buildings are exonerated, and the church body permits baseball to be played there, it is likely that City league will have another ground upon which to play.

Other Matters

New Castle Duntille company was ordered paid $75.36 for the sidewalk at Grant and Sampson street, and $622.45, for paving Mechanic street. Certificates calling for these amounts was submitted by City Engineer John Z. Street to council.

Mercantile Tax Collector James Mayberry, asked, and received permission from council today to turn over to the city solicitor, bills for mercantile taxes due for several years from 16 different small concerns here. If the taxes are not paid within a certain time, prosecution will be brought, council indicated.

Council adopted an ordinance selling a lot, 120x300 feet on the east side of Cascade street, to Jake Elias, for $100.

Council will consider the proposal of the war department through the ORC to have a platoon of engineers formed here for the purpose of helping the fire department in any conflagration, or other disaster. Under the law, only the paid fire department can sponsor the organization.

John Grajciar Is Unopposed As Director

Again On Ballot As Director Of District 21, U.S.A. of CIO; Election In February

John W. Grajciar, present director of the United Steelworkers of America, CIO, of District 21, will be unopposed for re-election as district director, in the elections slated for February 8, 1949.

During the past two months, local unions in the district were supplied with nominating ballots, for submission of names for the international president, secretary-treasurer, and vice presidents, in addition to delegates attending the CIO national convention and the district directors. Deadline to submit these names was December 10.

Out of the 70 unions which comprise District 21, Mr. Grajciar received 68 out of 73 votes. District 21 includes eight counties of which Lawrence county is included. Others are: Mercer, Crawford, Venango, Erie, Warren, Forrest and McKean counties.

No other person received the sufficient number of votes to be placed on the ballot of election, as director of District 21.

The local unions in their respective districts will vote for its district director, however the general United Steelworkers of America membership, CIO, in United States and Canada will vote for the international officers.

There will also be 21 delegates to be elected to attend the National CIO convention, and Mr. Grajciar's name has also been submitted on the ballot as a delegate to the convention of District 21.

Salvation Army Prepares Plans For Yule Cheer

Sounds of "mums" dolls begging for little girls to caress them, and the shrill blasts of animated toys such as fire engines and mechanical trains penetrate the normally tranquil atmosphere of the Salvation Army citadel on North Jefferson street these days.

The chapel of the building, as well as other adjoining rooms, have been turned into a toy workshop so that the various items that are presented to the Salvation Army may be salvaged, repaired and repainted, in order that they might bring cheer to some more unfortunate youngster about the city who otherwise would miss the visit of old St. Nick on Christmas eve.

Captain Thelma L. Dundon, worker in charge of the local branch of the Salvation Army, reports that everything that is humanly possible is being done to bring happiness to many homes of the city and county during the Christmas season. Local women, business houses and others are co-operating splendidly in helping to make this possible.

Splendid Response
A splendid response is already observed in the amount of money that is being contributed through the kettles that have been placed on the streets to provide funds for this giant Christmas project. Toys are coming in from the various firms of the city so that they will be ready in time for distribution.

The Department of Public Assistance has already turned in many names of families who will head the list of those receiving help first from the many Christmas baskets that will be distributed. Other applications for baskets and toys are arriving daily and these will be handled by the workers, who will give them every consideration.

Plans are under way to make a visit to all the convalescent homes about the city where a treat and gifts will be left for the aged who occupy these homes. The County Home will not be forgotten, with refreshments to be served during the annual Christmas program next Tuesday evening.

All in all, according to the captain, one of the best Christmas seasons ever enjoyed by the local Salvation Army unit will be enjoyed, with the regular attenders at the Sunday school planning for their own party when clothing, toys and other items will be distributed.

YW Nursery Is Now Busy Place

Number Of Little 'Charges' Increase Weekly As Christmas Approaches

"As busy as a beehive" could literally be said of the Y.W.C.A. nursery Monday afternoon, when 13 youngsters were left in the charge of the nursery aides.

There were plenty of toys and games to keep the little "guests" busy and happy. In fact one little girl had such a grand time that she cried when her mommy returned and it was time to go home.

As Christmas approaches mothers need just a little more time to do their shopping and with this in mind, the Y.W.C.A. nursery under the chairmanship of Mrs. L. S. Webster has offered its services.

Any child of walking age, clean without colds or diseases may be taken to the nursery from 1:30 to 4:30 p. m. There are many aides to help and the children are safe and kept busy with many things to do.

Next Monday, mothers will be asked if they desire the nursery even after the Christmas holidays. But for the present every Monday will be "nursery day" at the YW.

German Reds See Russia Signing Separate Peace

BERLIN, Dec. 14.—(INS)—German Communists openly predicted today that Russia will proclaim an eastern Communist government and sign a separate German peace treaty early next year.

Spokesmen for the Russian-controlled Socialist Unity Party (SED) stated that the two moves will be accompanied by a wholesale Red army troop withdrawal, except for the Soviet garrison in Berlin.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American military governor, has already termed the possibility of an eastern German state and a separate treaty "a justifiable assumption."

The rumored troop evacuation, western military officials point out, would be a powerful propaganda weapon aimed at restoring Russia's crumbling prestige in the Reich.

Actually, such a tactic would not materially weaken the Russian military position. An army-size, well-armed German police force, estimated to number about 250,000, exists in the Soviet zone. This force has been indoctrinated with Communism, and would be charged with the job of supporting the puppet regime.

Junior Red Cross Completes Drive

Seventy-three out of 80 schools in Lawrence County have completed enrollment in the Junior Red Cross. It was announced today by Miss Emma Maxwell, advisor to the group. This represents a 35 per cent increase over last year's enrollment figures.

More than $450.00 has been collected so far this year in the drive and all of this money will be used exclusively for Junior Red Cross projects. Some of the accomplishments of the group has been packing 488 gift boxes for overseas shipment to school children of war-torn countries.

The children have also made 2,263 nut cups and favors for patients at Deshon hospital during the holidays of Thanksgiving, Christmas, New Year's, and Valentine's Day. According to reports received from the hospital, the veterans there appreciate the originally designed favors made by the children much more than the commercial variety. Other projects of the Red Cross Juniors include making books of cartoons for the soldiers and providing the children's wards of the county hospitals with a Christmas tree and presents.

TRAYS DO SAVE TIME AND ENERGY

Trays may save much time and energy. Use one as a cleaning carrier for supplies needed for the bathroom, living room or any other part of the house. A paper bag on the tray will be handy receiver for waste paper and contents from ash trays. Save time and effort when setting and clearing the dinner table by putting silver, glasses and dishes on the tray and carrying to and from the dining table in one trip.

A tray can be a servant when homemakers cook. Collect all the foodstuffs necessary for food preparation from the cellar, refrigerator, pantry, or wherever they are stored. The foods you need can be taken on a tray to the cooking center in one trip.

Teach children to use a tray for a toy collector. A bright-colored tray will make picking up toys a more pleasant task. A child may like to have a tray his very own with his own name painted on with fingernail polish. With their own trays children can help mother pick up out-of-place things about the room after a party.

Serving as an ironing maid is another duty a tray can fulfill. Place two or three trays near the ironing board on ironing day. Sort the garments and linens as they are ironed. Use one tray for ironed pieces that belong in the bathroom, another for linens that belong in the kitchen.

Use a tray as a garden helper. It is helpful for carrying a trowel, hand fork, and snippers which are often wanted when a homemaker is cutting flowers. The tray is also convenient to use while trimming and arranging house plants and cut flowers.

An extra tray may be put to work in a variety of ways, and thus save the homemaker many steps and also much time.

WOMAN IS KILLED IN FREAK ACCIDENT

ELKINS PARK, Pa., Dec. 14.—(INS)—Mrs. Marie Sauder, 53, of Oreland, Pa., was killed in a freak accident Monday as she sat in the front seat of her husband's car at a gas station in Elkins Park.

A trailer-truck swerved to avoid hitting an automobile on the highway and smashed into the rear of the Sauder car, crushing it against a diner adjoining the gas station. Mrs. Sauder was trapped in the wreckage and died enroute to Chestnut Hill hospital.

A cellar temperature of 43 degrees is ideal for cellar wintering of bees.

Around Hollywood

By BOLAND HAYES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 14.—The movie-makers are sick over the skimpy box office returns these days—and so you are going to have to watch a lot of movies next year in which the stars portray invalids.

It's an old tried and true dramatic formula. Suffering, like a death scene, always boosts an actor's cinematic stock. People like to sob, and tears in the theater mean more dough in the cashier's cage.

Throughout "Sorry, Wrong Number," Barbara Stanwyck is confined to bed except when she rises twice and stumbles a few steps.

Alan Ladd is healthy until he meets sudden death in "One Woman," but you might recall that the deformed hand which he affected in "This Gun for Hire" helped him to stardom.

Jimmy Stewart currently is impersonating Monty Stratton, the great baseball pitcher who lost a leg in an unfortunate hunting accident.

Ever since Monty Woolley coasted to fame in a wheelchair in "The Man Who Came to Dinner," the rolling reeler has frequently held the entertainment spotlight.

A veteran stage and screen actor named Howard Freeman has probably the best role in "One Woman," rolling through the entire picture in a wheelchair.

Olivia De Havilland's portrayal as an insane woman in "The Snake Pit" and Jane Wyman's masterful performance as a deaf mute in "Johnny Belinda" have been acclaimed as Hollywood's two best acting jobs in years.

James Mason was lame in "The Seventh Veil."

So illness is becoming a vogue again in Hollywood. Every studio story department is digging through its old files for similar foolproof fiction.

The most popular phrase in movietown today is "Let's sit this one out!"

Jam Sessions
Off the celluloid cuff—Ronald Coleman is an excellent banjo player and sometimes gets together for a two-man jam session with his fiddle-playing neighbor, Jack Benny.

Ray Milland's real name is Reginald Turcott-Jones; Loretta Young's first handle is Gretchen, but she adopted the name Loretta from her patron saint; and comedian Billy De Wolfe still signs his checks William Jones.

June Haver was first married at the age of 13... Because of his small stature, Producer Frank Capra paid for his freshman year at California Institute of Technology by working for a pipe and steel company, crawling inside pipes to inspect them.

George Sanders was born in St. Petersburg, Russia, in 1906, where his father was an English rope manufacturer... Joan Blondell was once kicked out of high school for knocking out another girl's teeth with a baseball bat... Greta Garbo's favorite breakfast dish is oatmeal covered with thick syrup... and a certain big-time movie press agent has just hired another press agent to publicize him!

Shenango St. YMCA Has Sunday Election

The anniversary committee of the branch had a short meeting following the elections and plans were made for the proposed anniversary program to be held January 15, 1949.

LOCAL ACCOUNTANT GIVEN CERTIFICATE

Ruth Cleveland of the Chevrolet Keystone company, this city, was honored in Pittsburgh on Monday evening, when she with 97 others received certificates of merit for faithful service given over the past year to the company. The presentation was made at a banquet at the Hotel William Penn.

There are two main groups of meteorites, one of stone and one of metal, although some are a combination of metal and stone.

GIRL SCOUTS

Troop 31

A beautiful candle light investiture ceremony was held by troop 31, under the leadership of Mrs. J. H. E. McKenzie and Mrs. Henry Wimer, on Tuesday in the scout room at Highland church. The 44 girls present formed a huge horseshoe, pledged allegiance to the flag and sang America. The flag ceremony was conducted by Betty Winkler, Joan Wimer, Delores Kolunie, Eileen Hammond and Nancy Reebel. Mrs. Wimer and Mrs. McKenzie were assisted with the investiture by Amelia Bernd, Lilian Armstrong, Carol Staats and Ann Richards.

Seventeen girls completed their tenderfoot requirements, were invested and presented their Girl Scout pins. They are Barbara Ann Vargo, Eleanor Schoenberger, Rita Fry, June Coles, Shirley Patton, Shirley Clark, Janet Taylor, Barbara Taylor, Peggy Matthews, Barbara Duff, Melinda Bishop, Barbara Baer, Margot Keane, Connie Gilfillan, Barbara Blose and Peggy Smith.

The following girls were also awarded a hostess badge: Marlene Williams, Anna Mae Tait, Janet Neilsen, Marnae Houk, Margie Cover, Jean McCreary, Mary Jo Veri, Mary Ann Morrow, Sylvia Turco, Darlene Smetana and Donna Battley.

Brownie Troop 54 held their regular meeting Wednesday, December 8, at Glen-Moore school, under leadership of Mrs. Ralph McCormick, assisted by Mrs. Shaw and Mrs. Carroll.

The group worked on Christmas projects and made final plans for a Christmas tea for their mothers to be held at the next meeting, December 18. Mrs. N. J. McCluskey was a guest of the troop.

Notice—Carolers
Girl Scouts who plan on participating in the carol singing this year are to meet for practice Saturday morning at 10 o'clock in the basement of the First Christian church.

Shrine Party Is Enjoyable Event

Four Hundred Nobles And Ladies Attend Christmas Party Cathedral

Four hundred nobles and their ladies were in attendance at the annual Christmas party of Lawrence Caravan No. 16, A. A. O. N. M. S., which was held in the Cathedral Monday evening.

Following a splendid dinner served by the committee headed by Noble Clarence S. Jarrett, a riotous evening of entertainment followed.

Noble President Paxton R. Fike of Ellwood City introduced Noble Fred M. Alexander as chairman and master of ceremonies, and a surprise entertainment was presented in the form of an old-fashioned Italian fruit stand, with several of the nobles dressed up in costume to represent the proprietors, who dispensed various articles of fruit and vegetables to the audience. Meats were given as door prizes, also.

Two humorous plays were presented by members of the dramatics class of Westminster college, under the direction of Prof. Donald L. Barbe, head of the department of public speaking and dramatic art. The balance of the evening was spent in social chat.

Visiting nobles were present from many surrounding points in addition to those from Lawrence county caravan.

Honolulu—In 1947 Hawaii had 4,009 farms producing such diversified agricultural products as livestock, fruits and vegetables, coffee, nuts, rice and honey.

At the annual Christmas meeting of the Nellie Constance Bible class of the Alliance Gospel Tabernacle, 210 Pearson street, held Monday evening in the green room of the YWCA, Mrs. Cyril Smith, wife of the superintendent of the City Mission, was the speaker. Mrs. Smith chose a Christmas theme for her well chosen remarks.

The meeting opened with a devotional period followed by caroling led by Miss Esther Gibbons with Mrs. Scott Richards presiding at the piano. A duet by Mrs. Charles McIlrath and Mrs. Charlotte Emery and a piano solo by Mrs. Emery continued the program. Vocal selections were presented by Miss Ruth Ann Lutz, Mrs. Charles McIlrath and Mrs. Louis Bogie. Mrs. Ruth Lutz, president, directed the program.

During the evening an exchange of gifts took place among the 44 present. Members of the Mabel Ryan Bible class were special guests. The splendid lunch was served by Mrs. Cora McClintock, Mrs. Howard Gross, Mrs. Oma Bercher, Mrs. Charles McIlrath, Miss Mildred Gibbons, Mrs. Clarence Park and Mrs. Clarence Allison.

WHEN YOU BECOME ENGAGED
"Soon I shall receive my engagement ring. When and how should my engagement be announced. Give me, please, all information on engagement etiquette."

Answer: It is not necessary that any public announcement be made if the bride-to-be and family prefer not to do so. On the other hand, a promise given by each of the betrothed constitutes an engagement whether or not a ring is involved. So, consequently, a girl's engagement may be announced whether or not she has an engagement ring. Assuming that you wish yours publicly announced, here is the procedure:

Generally speaking, newspaper announcement is not made until a month or so before the wedding and the date of the marriage is given at the same time. However, if for some reason the wedding date has not been decided upon and the engaged girl wishes to let her friends know the joyous news, she may, indeed, announce her engagement in the newspapers if she so wishes.

A photograph of the bride-to-be, her name, the name and address of her parents, the name of her fiancé, his address and the name of his parents should be given to the society editors of the local newspaper.

You may have an announcement party, inviting whom you please, including your fiancé's immediate family. Usually, the public announcement follows the party, at which the announcement is a surprise.

A girl without parents has her engagement announced by her nearest relatives—sister and uncle, grandparents or an older sister or brother.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly

Hellinger's Widow Is Married Again

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 14.—(INS)—Gladys Glad, former Ziegfeld Follies star and widow of author and producer Mark Hellinger, was married early today in Ottawa to Arthur Gottlieb, Toronto motion picture executive.

The wedding took place at the home of Dr. Charles Shapiro, a friend of Gottlieb's. Details of the ceremony or who performed the wedding were kept secret.

The bride and groom, who stayed at Dr. Shapiro's home overnight, plan to leave for Toronto later today. They will live in Canada.

The couple was married immediately upon expiration of the three-day waiting period required by an Ontario marriage license law.

Seek Repeal Of 'Tax Anything' Law In State

HARRISBURG, Dec. 14.—(INS)—Repeal of the "tax anything law" was demanded today by more than 400 representatives of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor (AFL).

The unanimously adopted resolution, presented by John Farley, of the Stroudsburg Typographical Union, was aimed at legislation approved by the general assembly broadening the taxing authority of political subdivisions. Farley attacked the "tax anything" tag to the law.

The representatives also enthusiastically approved another resolution urging repeal of the 18-month-old law prohibiting strikes in public employees.

The PFL representatives met at Harrisburg to draft the union's legislative program for presentation to the general assembly in 1949.

Titans Have Tussle With Geneva At Home Tonight

District Rivals Provide Testing

Westminster College's cagers go into action three times this week with tonight's game here with Geneva, the top attraction. Sterling College of Kansas, will be here Thursday evening while the Titans will play their first away game Friday at Carnegie Tech.

Titans fans have been impressed by the play of their favorites in the Kent and Millersville games. However, they are withholding final judgment until a real test comes. Kent was plainly overconfident and once they fell behind, they could not rally. Millersville was a romp even though the team was composed entirely of men who gave the Titans a real battle here last year.

Outstanding Attractions
The game with Geneva is always one of the outstanding attractions. The Covenanters are highly rated, and in Lloyd Cable, former All-quippa high star, they have one of the most feared forwards in the area. They have been impressive in early season game, even though they suffered defeat at St. Bonaventure.

Westminster will be in top form for the Geneva club. Bruce Wagner, Cochran, who has been handicapped with a sprained ankle, reports that the pain has gone, and he showed no bad effects in Monday's work-out. He is expected to be teamed with Clyde Shaffer, New Wilmington, at the forwards, with Dembinski, New Kensington, and Hyder, East Liverpool, and McCullough, Bradford, at the guards.

The game will get under way at 8:15 with a capacity crowd expected.

Sala-Armitage Battle Tonight

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 14.—(INS)—Another local natural is scheduled for the Gardens in Pittsburgh tonight when Lee Sala, Donora, Pa., clouting middleweight, takes on Jackie Armitage, New Kensington, Pa., in a 10-round bout.

Although the card is expected to sell-out the Gardens, few local boxing followers give Armitage much of a chance against Sala's devastating left hook. The Donora youngster has won 47 straight decisions.

A closer scrap, however, is anticipated in the eight-round semifinal in which hard-hitting Jack Besselman of Pittsburgh meets Eddie Bell, welterweight of Canton, O. Bell showed fine form his last time at the Gardens when he defeated Chico Pacheco of Brazil.

Temple, bulwarked by a veteran squad, figures to be a powerhouse on the hardwood. Only Dave Fox graduated from the 1947 club and Owl Coach Josh Cody has his boys pepped up for national recognition this year.

High Quintet Invades Butler

Both New Castle And Butler Undefeated In Three Previous Starts

New Castle High basketball team invades the home of the Butler Golden Tornado tonight for another pre-league affair, its fourth of the current floor campaign.

Heading the New Castle party that will leave for Butler at an early hour tonight will be Head Coach George Thomas, Assistant Coach Austin Cowmeadow, Faculty Manager Robert Mills and Bob Stewart, equipment custodian.

Records To Date
New Castle 49—Akron Kenmore 27.
New Castle 40—Youngstown Ursuline 37.
New Castle 38—Youngstown East 37.

Butler 52—Dormont 34.
Butler 59—Grove City 17.
Butler 49—New Brighton 30.
Coach Thomas will not doubt start Dick Lewis and Tom Clarke at the forwards, Don Reed at center, and Tony Ciarella and Phil Conti at the guards. Butler will start the following Protopchak, Whann, McIndoe, Stutz and Kottraba or White. Johnny Ifft is the Butler coach.

Butler is seeking revenge for the 67 to 0 grid defeat suffered here this fall, according to the reports. New Castle is confident of bringing back the bacon, however.

Hint At Boost In Hunting Fees

HARRISBURG, Dec. 14.—(INS)—The state game commission has hinted broadly at a possible increase in hunting fees.

The commission pointed to increased costs and said "continuation of the present state game conservation program would cost at least $3,200,000 annually."

The current program, it was added, has been underwritten with funds from wartime savings. "Next year's work will have to be curtailed at least $750,000 unless the hunter's license fee is increased," the commission declared in a bulletin to more than 900 Sportsmen's club in the state.

Seek Cooperation
The commission emphasized that the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's club recommended increasing the resident license fee from $2 to $3.65 and the non-resident small game license from $10.25 to $25.

Should the General Assembly adopt the proposal, revenue would increase more than $600,000, according to the commission.

At Ebensburg Commission Director Thomas D. Frye told the Cambria County Federation of Sportsmen's club that the agency's big problem "is the development of real conservation-minded sportsmen."

He said hunters should retain the goodwill of landowners, supplement the natural food supply for wildlife and report game law violators.

Indians-Senators, Browns-Yanks Swap Players

CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—(INS)—A $100,000 deal between the New York Yankees and St. Louis Browns and a straight player-swap between the world champion Cleveland Indians and Washington Senators topped a rash of trading activity today at baseball's Big League meetings.

The Yanks shelled out the $100,000 and gave up pitchers Red Embree and Dick Starr and catcher Sherman Lollar for Browns pitcher Fred Sanford and catcher Roy Partee. Sanford won 12, lost 21 for the Browns last year. Partee hit .303.

The Yankees also agreed to send Partee to one of their farm clubs, while the Browns may make whatever use they can of Lollar, who hit .211; Embree, who won five, lost three, and Starr, who had an average year with Newark of the International League.

In the Indian-Senator swap, Cleveland sent first baseman Eddie Robinson and pitchers Ed Klieiman and Joe Haynes to Washington for first baseman Mickey Vernon and pitcher Early Wynn in a straight player deal.

More To Come
But that wasn't all that happened. Consider:
1. The Yankees traded first baseman Steve Souchock, first baseman who batted .203 for New York last season, to the Chicago White Sox in exchange for outfielder Jimmy Delsing, a .333 hitter with Hollywood of the Pacific Coast League, and another player to be delivered at a later date.

2. The New York Giants sold pitcher Ken Trinkle to the Philadelphia Phillies for an undisclosed amount of cash.

3. The Phillies sold utility man Carvel Rowell to Minneapolis of the American Association.

4. The White Sox announced appointment of C. W. Hayes as business manager of their Muskegon, Mich., farm team in the Class A Central League.

And more deals, several clubs said, were pending.

Of significance to Minor League followers was the fact that Bucky Harris was still number one choice for the job of manager of the San Diego Padres of the Pacific Coast League.

Hannon and B. Sullivan scored 17 points between them to lead the Saints to victory. Hamilton, with 7 points, topped the losers point making in this highly defensive battle.

The Eagles led at half time 19 to 16 but St. Mary's came from behind to rack up 12 points in the second half while the Eagles could connect for only 8.

SENIOR Y LEAGUE SCHEDULED TONIGHT
Three games in the Senior Y League are scheduled for tonight on the "Y" floor.

The Chiefs and Rebels tangle in the first contest beginning at 8 o'clock. The Wings take on the Shamrocks at 8 and G.I. Shine plays the Civics at 9.

Sport Club Affairs
Wednesday, 8 p.m.—West Pittsburgh Rod and Gun club will complete plans for a tri-county fox hunt.

Friday, 8 p.m.—Enon Valley Rod and Gun club will entertain the Sportsman's council.

Sunday—Northwest division, State Federation of Sportsman's clubs will meet at the LaFayette hotel, Meadville. Game and fish wardens are asked to attend.

Alvin Dark, brilliant shortstop of the Boston Braves, was named the rookie of the year for 1949 in both major leagues.

The best season in soccer history at Lehigh was the 1929 when the booters triumphed six times and dropped four tussles. In 1947, Coach Billy Sheridan's eleven won five, lost four, and tied one.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

DICK PORTER, major league outfielder, who played in the minors before reaching the big show, made a "home run" here Saturday evening when he addressed the County League Baseball League banquet. He shed many gems of information concerning past and present satellites of the diamond. Here are some of the information he gave:

While with Cleveland Porter didn't get a decent hit off Lefty Gomez while Lefty was with the Yankees. Gomez was a great clutch pitcher.

Frankie Pittack who managed New Castle, an ex-Indian, suffered a bad arm and ran into hard luck.

Managers have difficulty with players who receive big bonuses for signing.

If Lou Boudrea had good legs he would be the greatest player in the world. He tapes his legs before each game.

While playing with Vandemere, the latter would issue several balls then proceed to strike out the batter.

In baseball, which is utterly lacking in sentiment, one never hears of an owner being fired. It is always the manager if a team has a bad year.

A lot of good baseball players left the Minor League convention at Minneapolis, without a job.

Hack Wilson was a great ball player, and a grand fellow.

As a pitcher Babe Ruth was a good pitcher, and one of the greatest of outfielders. He went three years without dropping a ball. Ruth was fast, loved kids, and although he suffered from cancer, continued to make public appearances. He was never too busy to autograph a ball for a youngster. "We never knew Babe to throw to the wrong base", Porter said.

Once during a game, Babe cut off Lazzeri's necktie, Porter said, then added: "When Babe went to get his trousers in the clubhouse, he found Lazzeri had cut off the legs of his trousers above the knee."

Jimmy Fox, raised in Southern Maryland, had a lot of tough breaks. In my opinion Porter said "he was the second best ball player. He hit the ball farther than did the Babe. Fox ended up as a pitcher. He suffered from sinus trouble due to a fractured skull. He was a grand fellow, had many friends in baseball and ended up as a great pitcher."

"Fox was like Ruth and Cobb. He was good in any position."

Umpiring is the hardest task in baseball. "You cannot make a grandstand play or be a star, as an umpire" Porter, who travels for the Wilson Sporting Goods Company said.

Among Porter's feat, was playing 22 years without being put out of a game, and when he was ejected, he was a manager. He had a .325 batting average.

"Umpires have trouble with players alibing. There cannot be a game without an umpire, and the higher an umpire goes, the easier his task."

Ted Williams is like Al Simmons. They are the same type ball player, but possess unusual dispositions. "Ted has improved a lot in temperament" Porter stated. "Bill Dickey, catcher, always said Ted never struck at a bad ball."

He told of the time when the eccentric Rabbit Maranville dived into a golf pond in a St. Louis hotel, and came up with a gold-fish in his mouth, causing a woman guest to faint.

Roger Hornsby had a spur on his heel, the same as Joe DiMaggio, and he fears, Porter said, that this "will do no particular good for DiMaggio."

He characterized himself as a double hitch hitter, and said that every good hitter had his own style. One of Hornsby's troubles was that he couldn't catch a pop fly, Porter stated.

Porter expects to manage Fall River, Mass., team next year.

Herman Steinbrink, F. A. Pinkerton, Paul Crabie, Mike Fazzino and Mendel Blues stocked 300 rabbits in various parts of Lawrence county Saturday night. They were bought by the Lawrence County Sportsman's Association for $1, each, from a Missouri concern. They were in good condition upon arrival, it was stated. . . Mrs. Mearl Brunton, Fairmont avenue, has a baseball presented to her husband and her, by Trainer Soose of the Cleveland Indians, with the names of every member of the Championship Indians inscribed on the "apple".

Some local fans will see Jackie Armitage and Lee Sala batter each other tonight at Duquesne Gardens, Pittsburgh. . . The County League banquet speaker, Dick Porter, was brought here by Eddie Conner, the well known Sporting Goods store operator. . . During the evening, Porter took occasion to congratulate Coach Phil Bridenbaugh for having produced a WPIAL champion. . . Recall the pugilistic firm of Roy Smith and Jim Dygert? Roy is still here but Dygert is at Warren, O., where some time ago he figured in an auto accident. They managed Homer Gray, Harold Wright, Young Stribling and Lefty Arnold. Any time one of their proteges started, a fight always ensued. Roy is following the vocation of a painter while Jim is an electrician.

PITT PLAYERS PICK NOTRE DAME AS BEST
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 14.—(INS)—Seventy-five percent of Pitt's football players think Notre Dame was the best eleven they faced all year and they unanimously believe Irish tackle Don Fischer was the best lineman.

This was established in a poll conducted by the school paper at Pitt. Purdue's Harry Sulzboriski, who lacked one vote of being a unanimous choice, was selected as the best back. Highly-publicized Doak Walker of Southern Methodist, however, just made the first team backfield.

Athletics Sign Dykes As Coach
CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—(INS)—Jimmy Dykes, former manager of the Chicago White Sox, has been signed as first base coach for the Philadelphia Athletics in 1949.

Athletics' President Connie Mack also announced the signing of Wally Moses as a pinch hitter and the rehiring of Coaches Al Simmons and Earle Brucker.

Dykes played third base for the Athletics before moving to the Sox.

Tifereth Sisterhood Has Chanukah Dinner

One of the most successful affairs, both socially and financially, was the pre-Chanukah dinner held at the Tifereth Israel synagogue, 708 South Jefferson street, Sunday, Dec. 12.

A specially prepared menu was served promptly at six o'clock to 180 guests seated in the dining room of the synagogue at seven beautifully appointed tables which had centerpieces of menorahs, candles and eight candles. These menorahs are used during the Chanukah holiday, commencing December 27 until January 3.

Rabbi and Mrs. Jules Lipschutz, spiritual leaders of the synagogue, were special guests.

Those responsible for the success of the dinner were: Mrs. Sam Wolf, chairlady; Mrs. I. Solomon, Mrs. Charles Malerson, Mrs. H. Waldman, Mrs. L. Zieve, Mrs. A. Shapiro, Mrs. H. Solomon, Mrs. I. Smith, Mrs. R. Seigler, Mrs. M. Wolfson, Mrs. M. Slavovskiy, Mrs. M. Becker, Miss Ann Bruntman and Mrs. Harry Rosen.

Only the president of the United States is authorized to have an airplane for his exclusive use.
